

Nature

I think that all these highly personal images, inspired by Nature, not only document my romantic sensitivity and my pictorial research but above all demonstrate my pantheism and my deepest praise of beauty: an aesthetic concept still present in contemporary art.

Andrew Aitch

New York City, 2020